

LONDON FEARS ANOTHER SLUMP

Says Depression Only Can Result From Big Spending Program

Council Bluffs, Ia., July 7.—(AP)—Alf M. Landon predicted tonight that "unless there is a change in the president's methods and policies, we will be right back in another depression as soon as the government's spending spree is over."

"This has already happened once and it must be obvious that it will happen again unless confidence is restored and political abuses corrected," the 1936 Republican presidential nominee asserted.

Landon spoke over a nation-wide radio network from a banquet in his honor. Pottawattomie County Chairman John Henry said 300 attended and heard the former Kansas governor open the Republican national committee's 1938 campaign.

Replying to President Roosevelt's recent fireside talk, Landon charged political depression—a depression the present depression was "purely brought on by the methods and policies of the present administration."

"Every day," he said, "the evidence is becoming more overwhelming."

"I think Mr. Roosevelt can count on the active cooperation and support of practically all Republican citizens in this country in all humanitarian things he is trying to do. But we will not condone corruption and trickery on the part of his advisers and assistants, merely because the ultimate aim is good."

Urges Financial Order

"Let Mr. Roosevelt abandon the confusion and contradiction that has marked so much of his administration. Let him realize again that the greatest peril to social reform is financial recklessness. Let him make another determined effort to eliminate waste and extravagance, as he did in 1933."

"Let him cease his nagging attacks on business, let him, instead, undertake to bring about an harmonious working relationship between industry and labor and between them and the public. Let him make a real effort to dissolve monopoly instead of fostering it."

"Let Mr. Roosevelt forewear all further attempts to tamper with the supreme court and to get power into his own hands. Let him put a stop to the use of WPA money to buy votes."

"In short," Landon said, "let Mr. Roosevelt only practice what he preaches and we will not only cooperate with him—we will fight shoulder to shoulder with him to achieve the social progress and the economic recovery which we all desire and need."

Investigate Death of State's Charge

Dixon state hospital staff physicians and Deputy Coroner Dr. A. F. Moore were today investigating the death of Arthur Talmadge, 23, of Chicago, patient on cottage A-8 which occurred shortly before noon today. According to reports from the office at the state hospital, Talmadge suffered a beating at the hands of other patients on the institution grounds last Monday, the Fourth of July.

A member of the staff indicated today that death possibly resulted from a fracture of the skull, and Dr. A. F. Moore, deputy coroner, ordered an autopsy which was being performed by institution physicians this afternoon. An inquest was ordered at 4:30 this afternoon. Talmadge had been confined in the hospital ward since the attack last Monday, it was stated.

NEW TRIAL GRANTED

Salem, Ill., July 7.—(AP)—Circuit Judge William E. Wright granted a new trial today in the slander suit in which the Rev. Franklin H. Spencer of Salem was awarded an $8,000 judgment against Bishop John Chandler White of the Protestant Episcopal diocese of Springfield. After hearing testimony that Bishop White in a conversation with two Olney women, accused the Salem clergyman of immorality, the Rev. Spencer had asked $100,000.

RAIL RATES BOOSTED

Washington, July 7.—(AP)—Officials of eastern railroads estimated today that their half-cent increase in passenger fares would add nearly $30,000,000 a year to their revenues. The Interstate Commerce Commission agreed late yesterday to let the eastern lines charge 2.5 cents a mile in coaches during an 18-month trial. If found that the roads' financial condition had become "progressively worse" since a similar plea was refused last spring.

N FATAL AUTO ACCIDENT

Alton, Ill., July 7.—(AP)—Walter F. Long, 28, secretary of the independent employees union of the Alton Boxboard & Paper Company, was killed early today at East Alton when the automobile in which he was riding failed to make a curve at the bottom of a hill, struck a guard rail and turned over in an adjoining field.

BABS' MARRIAGE DEBACLE SHOWS UP REAL CAUSES

European Men Expect
More Obedience From Women

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE
(Associated Press Foreign Affairs Writer)

New York, July 7.—The tempestuous clash in London between our own five-and-ten Babs Hutton and her aristocratic but gloomy Dane provides a fine commentary on the European tradition that a man is ruler of his wife and home by divine right.

Even in democratic England man's absolute supremacy has been acknowledged (very generally speaking, though with some exceptions, since the days of the prehistoric Piltown man of Sussex who dragged his bride-to-be to his cave by the hair, and no questions asked).

I have known an English court to rule, not so long ago, that a husband was within his rights in chastising his wife if she were naughty. It is only in recent years that a woman could get a divorce on the same grounds as her husband. She couldn't divorce him for unfaithfulness, because that was his right.

Count Haugwitz-Reventlow's mistake was in thinking that Yankee girls are as submissive as are many of their European sisters. It would seem from the court testimony that he committed a double fault by trying regimentation on a girl who not only had all the spirit of young America, but was equipped with forty million dollars worth of special prerogatives besides.

Too Often Failures

The cold truth is that marriages between American women and Europeans frequently are failures because the man expects too much submission from the wife. An American man may get along with a foreign wife, since he expects to give her a 50-50 break. But it usually doesn't work the other way.

Father is the all important figure in the English home.

The average English wife and children wouldn't even think of challenging his edicts. The man of the house decides what is best, not only for himself but for his wife and family. He selects the schools for the children, decides where they shall spend their holidays, and tells them whom they may and may not marry.

With this understanding of the difference between the American and European viewpoint, it is easy to understand why the highly independent Babs and her husband should have serious divergences of opinion. It is reported that the rearing of their baby boy was among the sources of contention, which is easy to believe, as it would provide one of their most difficult problems.

Lee County Named Beneficiary in Will of Solomon May; Will Sell House

Members of the Lee county board of supervisors were called upon to perform an unusual duty yesterday afternoon when Attorney John J. Armstrong appeared before the board at the afternoon session as attorney in the estate of the late Solomon May, whose death occurred June 1, 1937 and in whose will, the board of supervisors is named a beneficiary. The attorney explained the provisions of the will, which provided that after the just claims had been paid, $100 to be set aside from the estate for the permanent care of a lot in Sugar Grove cemetery; the sum of $150 be expended for a suitable monument on the lot, and the executor of the estate, Glen F. Coe then convey to the Lee county board of supervisors, the remainder of the estate.

Attorney Armstrong and Executor Coe explained to the board at present the estate had not been sufficient to retire the claims filed against it, and that the deceased left a piece of real estate located at 623 Lincoln avenue which might be sold to retire all obligations and the estate.

The executor explained that the county would benefit by the sale of the property at public auction and the closing of the estate at an early date. A resolution empowering the executor to advertise the property and to sell it at public auction to close the estate was unanimously adopted by the board.

KIDNAPER OF CASH CHILD IS DENIED MERCY

BULLETIN.

Indianapolis, July 7.—(AP)—The Indiana Supreme Court denied today a petition for a stay of execution for Hugh Marshall, Jr., 22, and Vurtis Neal, 19, scheduled to die in Indiana state prison's electric chair shortly after this midnight for slaying William H. Bright, Indianapolis druggist.

Tallahassee, Fla., July 7.—(AP)—

The Florida pardon board refused today to commute the death sentence of Franklin Pierce McCall for kidnapping James Bailey Cash, Jr., at Princeton, Fla., on May 29.

His decision was announced after a brief executive session following pleas by McCall's attorney for commutation and by his prosecutor that the death sentence be carried out. Earlier, the Cash child's mother had refused to join the mother of McCall in a plea for mercy for him.

Mrs. Lyle McCall, a widow, and the prisoner's wife came here from the family home at Jasper, Fla., in an attempt to save him from electrocution. He is in the death house of the state prison at Raiford, Fla.

The mothers talked in low tones for a few minutes, and afterwards Mrs. McCall said she had asked Mrs. Cash to join in seeking to save her son's life. She said Mrs. Cash told her:

"Your son not only killed my son, but he has figuratively killed my husband and me."

"No penalty can pay for the crime or relieve us of our misery."

"Skeegie" Cash was snatched from his bed while his parents were busy in their grocery store, adjoining the home.

SEADLUND MUST DIE

Chicago, July 7.—(AP)—The United States Circuit Court of Appeals issued today a mandate that the death sentence on kidnaper John Henry Seadlund be carried out.

The period in which a petition for rehearing Seadlund's case could be filed expired yesterday, with none was filed. He could still appeal United States Attorney Michael L. Igoe said he had been informed Seadlund had decided not to appeal.

Seadlund, 27-year-old Ironton, Minn., woodsman, pleaded guilty to the $50,000 ransom kidnapping Sept. 25 of Charles S. Ross, 72, retired Chicago greeting card manufacturer. Ross was shot to death at the kidnap hideout near Spooner, Wis.

A jury in Federal Judge John P. Barnes' court decided in March that Seadlund should die for the crime. Electrocuting was scheduled for April 19 but postponed when Seadlund's court-appointed attorneys said they would ask rehearing or appeal.

After conferring later today with Judge Barnes, Martin M. Ward, assistant to Igoe, said Seadlund would be brought into court tomorrow for the setting of a new execution date. The kidnaper has been held in the Cook county jail.

MORGAN DEFIES FDR TO REMOVE HIM FROM TVA

Knoxville, Tenn., July 7.—(AP)—Dr. Arthur E. Morgan in a chancery court action on file today challenged authority of the president of the United States to remove him as chairman-director of the Tennessee Valley Authority.

The gray-haired engineer-educator asked that the presidential order ousting him March 22 be declared void and illegal.

This sudden move by the former Antioch college president came late yesterday while a congressional committee prepared to start Monday an investigation of TVA activities—an investigation precipitated by Dr. Morgan himself.

General Counsel James Lawrence Fly announced the TVA would oppose the suit, adding the case might be moved to district federal court.

Fly's department would work in cooperation with the department of justice.

The former chairman several months ago threw Congress into a furore when he accused his associates of hampering efforts to secure "honesty, openness, decency, and fairness" in administering the TVA.

He then openly defied President Roosevelt by refusing to discuss with him the basis of his accusations, asserting only a congressional inquiry could remove "a menace to good government."

President Roosevelt removed Dr. Morgan from office for "refusing to submit" to demands for facts, for "obstructing the work of the TVA" and for "openly making grave and libelous charges of dishonesty and want of integrity" against his associates.

TRIAL FACES DELAY

Michigan City, Ind., July 7.—(AP)—A delay in the case of Orelle Easton of Valley City, N. D., scheduled to go on trial July 13 on charges of murdering state policeman W. R. Dixon recently, appeared likely today as his attorney, Paul Krueger, prepared a motion attacking the impaneling of the jury which indicted Easton. Krueger filed a motion today to quash the indictment, but that was overruled by Judge Russell W. Smith.

County Will Seek PWA Grant For $100,000 Improvement Plan Monday

Committee of Supervisors will Visit Chicago Officers

County Superintendent of Highways Fred Leake was today meeting with supervisors and highway commissioners, drafting a program for which Lee county will file application for a PWA project Monday. Chairman Henry Gehant of the county board of supervisors, Superintendent Leake and Chairman Seth Anderson of the county finance committee will go to Chicago Monday to make application for the federal grant, covering an improvement program today estimated at about $100,000.

At the meeting today it was expected to include in the project, the Binghamton bridge, for which the county board voted an appropriation of $20,972.10 from two funds, $16,200 from the motor fuel tax fund and $3,872.10 from the 15-D fund at yesterday's meeting; the Lowell park spur road, the Lee Center spur and possibly the Nelson spur. Several townships also requested highway improvements under the proposed PWA program.

At yesterday's meeting of the board Mr. Leake voiced objections to the plan, but assured his co-operators in every way toward perfecting some plan to absorb unemployment in the county.

It had been suggested that Lee county compile a program which would include the Binghamton bridge and other bridge structures, the Lee Center and Lowell park spurs and combine these in an application of a 45 per cent PWA grant. The board had already voted appropriations for all four improvements.

"Where are you going to get the money to finance the county's share of these improvements?" he asked. "Will this board of supervisors borrow $50,000 with which to finance this proposed program? If the suggested project were approved by the PWA within 60 days, there would be no funds with which to proceed. In my opinion, you are barking up the wrong tree, and it might be better to find out first where the money is coming from with which to meet the county's share of cost, before making an application for a federal grant which would not be approved until local funds are available. In the case of the new school building in Dixon, a bond issue was voted and the funds were ready when needed and no delay was experienced in the construction."

Fred Warren, just returned from a successful fishing trip in northern Wisconsin, provided the fish for the dinner, to which all did justice. Following the dinner, the group went to the roller skating rink west of the city where they spent the remainder of the enjoyable evening.

BOY'S TRIP ENDS HERE

Fred Trieger, 16, who left his home at Lombard yesterday to view the beauties of the Pacific coast, reached Dixon last night about 11:30 to be escorted to the police station by Merchant Officer McIntire. Chief Van Bibber, after questioning the youth, telephoned the police at Lombard, to learn that members of his family were frantic over his unannounced disappearance and had urged the Lombard police to search for the wayward youth. He was detained at the police station until his parents arrived.

Ten Boys Die in Exhibition Fire

Drill When Planned Rescue Fails

Lisbon, Portugal, July 7.—(AP)—Ten boys died today when firemen failed to rescue them from a four-story wooden structure set ablaze to permit an exhibition fire drill.

Ten others were injured seriously in the drill at Coimbra, 100 miles north of Lisbon.

The building was soaked with gasoline for the spectacle with boys from 12 to 20 distributed through its rooms. The boys, some sons of firemen, were to receive ten escudos (45 cents) for their help.

The drilling brigade went to headquarters 400 yards from the building to await a prearranged alarm after the fire was started.

The flames spread too quickly. Thousands of spectators watch in terror as the firemen fought through the crowds to effect the planned rescue.

Two of the screaming boys died in the flames. Eight were injured in jumping from windows.

The crowd stampeded and some among them were injured. A volunteer brigade was formed to aid in carrying victims to the hospital.

The demonstration was a feature of Holy Queen festival, which the government suspended after the tragedy. The government also ordered an inquiry.

After 40 Years Roosevelt to HUNT LIBERAL NEW DEALERS

Washington, July 7.—(AP)—President Roosevelt added another politically-significant speaking engagement to his cross-country tour today by accepting an invitation to visit Barnesville, Ga., August 11.

The invitation was extended by a delegation of Georgians including Lawrence Camp, Federal District Attorney at Atlanta and candidate for the Democratic nomination for the U. S. Senate seat now held by Senator George, who frequently has opposed the administration, was not in the delegation.

The President's long trip, taking on some of the aspects of a stumping tour for "liberal" candidates will take him also into three other states—Kentucky, Oklahoma and California—where he is expected to make it clear that he would like to have New Deal supporters sent to the Senate.

Wants Liberals In Senate, Will Tell Voters So

The occasion for the Barnesville speech will be the dedication of a rural electrification development.

Announcement of the Georgia stop caused some to think it might afford an occasion for the President to speak his mind on congressional opponents. There has been no definite word on this point.

As Party's Leader

The President's trip on a 10-car special train will find him in the role of leader of his party, fighting for what he terms "the liberal school of thought." Except for occasions when he himself has been a candidate, it will be his most extensive political journey.

While he is enroute to California, Democratic chairman James A. Farley will be heading for the northwest. A tour to Alaska which Farley arranged several weeks ago as an escape from factional Democratic fights has turned into a speech-making trip that will rival in oratorical output the President's journey.

Speculation has developed here over the question of whether Farley would take opportunity to disclose his attitude toward efforts of some administration advisers to "purge" the Democratic party of anti-New Deal elements.

Not All Political

The President's journey will not be entirely political, however. In Fort Worth Texas, he will spend next Sunday with his son, Elliott. In San Francisco, he will visit the 1939 exposition grounds and review the fleet.

Then, after a tour through

Yosemite National Park, he will board the U. S. S. Houston for a leisurely cruise to Panama.

The month-long trip will add about 10,000 miles to the 124,000 miles of traveling which he has done since he entered the White House in March, 1933.

His special train will be as large as those he used for campaigning trips in 1932 and 1936. One car will be outfitted for temporary offices. The press contingent will include 30 reporters and photographers—three times the number usually accompanying the President.

After leaving Washington at 9:30

P. M. (Central Standard Time), Roosevelt will stop first at Marietta, Ohio. There he will speak tomorrow morning in connection with the 150th anniversary of the opening of the Northwest Territory.

His first clear-cut political declaration may be made in Kentucky, where Senator Barkley, the administration floor leader, is opposed by Gov. A. B. Chandler in the August primaries.

The President will speak at Covington, Ky. Friday afternoon, and in the evening will make re-platform appearances at Louisville and Bowling Green.

Ninety Percent Of State Farm Acreage For Only 5 Crops

Springfield, Ill., July 7.—(AP)—Ninety per cent of Illinois' farm acreage is devoted to five crops, despite the state's reputation for diversified agriculture.

A. J. Surratt, senior agricultural statistician, listed corn, oats, tame hay, winter wheat and soybeans as the big acreage crops in the order of their importance. He said Illinois ranks first in production of sweet corn for canning, third in red cloverseed and sixth in peaches.

In general, the state is important in fruit production, Surratt's report said, with Calhoun ranking as one of the nation's leading apple producing counties.

Farm income from livestock and livestock products exceeds that received from crops, Surratt added.

Polo's Methodist Church

—Telegraph Photo

Polo Methodism may well claim to be the foster mother of all religious work in the vicinity, having an unbroken history stretching back 104 years. The work was established under the supervision of the Illinois Conference, but at a time when this conference included not only its present territory, but the entire state and all the territory to the west and north, which is now divided into many states and many more conferences.

At the time there was no preaching from Rock Island to Galena and from the Rock river west to the Mississippi. The beginning of Polo Methodism reaches back to a time when the preacher arrived on horseback with his personage and his furnishings in his saddlebags.

Services were held in taverns, homes, groves and barns at a time when preachers received their training by being sent out as junior preachers under the guidance of experienced men.

The first services at Polo were held in the tavern of Oliver Kellogg which stood in the grove in the north end of Old Town. From there, in 1836, services were transferred to the log cabin of a Methodist family by the name of Wilcoxon, and perhaps in the autumn of that year were again changed, this time, to the school house where they were held uninterruptedly to the completion of the Old Town church in 1850.

The first class was organized March 13, 1835 with seven members including: George Wilcoxon, Anne Wilcoxon, Nancy Wilcoxon, Mary Smith, Stephen Smith, Oliver Kellogg and Aletha Hughes. The class grew slowly but steadily as more settlers came, either already Christians or to be won to the Christ in their new homes.

The first camp-meeting was held in Elkhorn Grove six miles distant in the fall of 1836. In 1837 the first Missionary Society was organized and took an active part in the temperance cause.

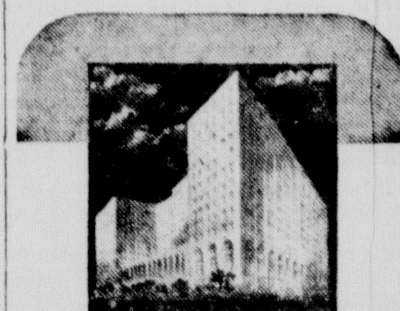

First Class Leader
Mr. Wilcoxon was the first class leader, first circuit and distant steward, first name on record in the Missionary society and for 25 years was the financial stay of the church. From Chicago to Galena his home was known as the "Methodist Tavern."

Relief Bader came during the first decade of the church's history. Nathan P. Scott and wife, Bedford Slater, Abram Saborn and Joseph Spear were converted and were faithful through the years. Dr. J. H. Moore was a familiar figure for many years as a Sunday school teacher and Presiding Elder.

In 1849, under the pastorate of Rev. Jones, the erection of the first church was started. It was slow work, the lumber being hauled from Chicago, and the building was not finished for a year or more.

With the growth of Polo and during the pastorate of Rev. Denning in 1857, services were begun in Polo, being held in Old Town in the forenoon and in Polo in the afternoon. During that year a revival of far-reaching extent was held in the Old Town church. Rev. Denning was assisted by Doctors More and Allaben. A great number of people were converted during that meeting.

Temporary Structure Built
During the pastorate of Rev. W. H. Smith in 1860 a church enterprise was undertaken. In 1860 the ground was secured which the church now occupies. A large temporary structure was built where the parsonage now stands and the church was commenced. The basement was completed in the fall of 1860 and was at once used. The entire building was completed and dedicated in the winter of 1862.

The first parsonage was purchased in 1844 and stood near the Old Town cemetery. It is worthy of note that Rev. Barton Cartwright, or Father Cartwright as he was known through the state, lived in this parsonage a couple of years. He was one of the prominent men of early Methodism. The second parsonage was purchased in 1857 and was in Polo at the corner of Division and Buffalo streets. Rev. Smith built the church just prior to the war. He served during the war as chaplain and was returned to Polo at its close.

The Building Pastorate
The pastorate of Rev. Thornton (1896-1902) may well be called the building pastorate. The splendid edifice which the congregation now enjoys was built in 1898, the cornerstone being laid September 8 and the dedication being held January 29, 1899. As if that were not enough for pastor and people to do, in 1901, the old parsonage was razed and the present structure was built in its place. The work was so well done that when Rev. Thornton closed his pastorate there was practically no indebtedness.

The pastorate of Rev. C. K. Carpenter might be called the expansion period. During the winter of 1902-1903 a revival lasting 12 weeks was held and 162 were added to the church. More than 250 were added during his pastorate. The Sunday school was practically doubled and benevolences advanced from $900 to over $1500.

In 1904 the pipe organ was presented to the church by Brother and Sister Shumway.

The "Visiting Pastor"
Following Rev. C. K. Carpenter's pastorate, Rev. Perley Powers served the church for a short time and Rev. A. E. Shanders came to take his place. Rev. John Fluck was pastor for 7 years and because of his many "calls" he was named the "visiting pastor".

A young man, Rev. A. D. Kloutz came next and served so successfully that he was taken by the Bishop to fill the pulpit at Trinity Church in Chicago and William Halford Pierce came to fill out the year and served faithfully while he was pastor.

At this time, Rev. Arthur Cates was transferred from the Indiana conference and came to Polo. He was a man of deep thought and stayed until he felt that his work here was finished.

During the pastorate of Harry C. Brown the "Geyer Memorial Room" was added to the church. It was partially destroyed by fire and later during Rev. Hancock's pastorate it was rebuilt and redecorated. The church was also redecorated during his stay.

When Rev. Hancock was sent to Elgin, Rev. John E. Robeson served for two years. Again, another young man came, Lester R. Minion. During his time a boys' club was organized and the young people of the church rallied in a splendid way.

Present Pastor
In October of 1936 Rev. Sidney Bloomquist was appointed by Bishop Ernest Lynn Waldorf to the Polo charge. He had previously served the Methodist church at Palatine, Ill. Before this he served the Westmore church of Lombard, Ill. having spent 12 years on the two charges.

Rev. Bloomquist received his A. B.

Liquor Sales In Small Bottles To Be Prohibited

Springfield, Ill., July 7.—(AP)—Effective September 1, sale of liquor in miniature bottles will be forbidden in Illinois under a regulation by the state liquor control commission.

The rule, promulgated in an effort to reduce drinking by motorists and minors, requires that bottles must hold at least eight fluid ounces. Several years ago the commission adopted a similar regulation but rescinded it after a few months.

To the regulation forbidding merchandise gifts with liquor sales, the commission added a provision that nominal charges can't be made for the "gift."

Evangelist

Returning to Dixon for a very brief stay, Miss Dorothy L. Kunzman of Los Angeles, above, will be heard tonight and tomorrow night at 7:30 in two evangelistic services to be held in the Dixon Gospel Tabernacle, 512 Ottawa avenue.

Miss Kunzman has just completed a four weeks series of revival meetings in New York and is now making an extended speaking tour of the central and mid-western states. She will be remembered in Dixon for her several previous visits to the city.

Although only a young woman, Miss Kunzman has had a wide preaching experience upon many of the more prominent evangelistic platforms of America, and has been heard frequently over numerous important radio stations throughout the nation. A gifted musician and possessing a rich contralto voice of remarkable quality, her songs are said to be as well received as her sermons.

THE MODERN GADFLY

Mark Sullivan comments upon a recent dispute between a newspaper chain and a government agency, suggesting that an impartial group should investigate the charges and denials, which, to date, have been inconclusive on both sides. Constant suggestions by certain administration officials would tend, says Mr. Sullivan to discredit the weight of charges made by the press.

We would say that the press has been very annoying to Mr. Roosevelt and his close associates. Newspapers have an annoying habit of telling what is going on. It was a newspaper, for instance, that connected Justice Hugo Black of the United States supreme court with the Ku Klux Klan. The disclosure in that connection led to the regret by some senators that they had voted to confirm the appointment.

Newspapers constantly remind readers that Mr. Roosevelt said he was going to do this, and didn't; that he said he was not going to do that, and did it.

The country is entirely too large and the population too great for a single man to keep the people informed. Even the radio is somewhat circumscribed due to licensing complications and fears, and by the fact that it leaves no record which can be consulted a year or ten years in the future.

But, if some months ago Mr. Roosevelt said he had a policy of not mixing in state primaries, the newspapers printed that statement. And if, a few days ago, he committed himself to a policy of interfering with state primaries, the newspapers printed that, too. And lest the readers forget, the newspapers also remind them of the old statement and ask Mr. Roosevelt whether he's on or off, or what.

The result must be extremely irritating to those who get in the way of truth.

It reminds us somewhat of the ancient Greek who lived in a barrel and went about asking questions. Few editors will lay claim to the wisdom of Socrates, but they may accept his own description of himself. He called himself the gadfly of the state. Men of integrity, when questioned by Socrates, had no difficulty in holding their own with him. But he was exceedingly troublesome to stuffed shirts; to men who said one thing and meant another; to men whose records and lives belied their protestations.

At last they got him. If we remember correctly the charge was trumped up, the evidence was lacking and the court, if not packed, was at least prejudiced. If there had been newspapers in the day of Socrates, and if they had been permitted to tell the people what happened in that trial, and what Socrates said to the judges, and if they had been permitted to dig into the personal records of the judges and show whether they belonged to the ancient Greek equivalent of the Ku Klux Klan, the judges would not have dared to go contrary to the evidence. Socrates would have been acquitted and one of the greatest minds of all time would have continued to function; Socrates would have continued to make monkeys out of the stuffed shirts, and to convict dishonest politicians and teachers of corruption and fraud.

PERMANENCE FOR CHANUTE FIELD

At last it appears that there is going to be permanence to Chanut field, Rantoul, Ill., the United States aviation school which has had a checkered and battered career.

Out of the allotment of 48 million dollars of WPA funds for the army housing and technical construction program, Chanut will receive $3,406,000 for warehouses, hangars, school building, hospital, quarters for all officers and barracks.

Chanut field was developed in connection with aviation activities of the war period, being located with relationship to the University of Illinois. During the last fifteen years there has been persistent agitation for removal of the field to some other location. For a time it appeared almost certain that Dayton, O., would get it, through the influence of Speaker Longworth. More recently the claim of Denver, Colo., was heard over all others. Finally, the issue was settled by agreement that there was enough demand for aviation instruction to warrant schools at both Rantoul and Denver.

Army officers were suspected of much of the agitation for removal as Rantoul does not afford opportunities for social life that are offered, for instance, in Dayton and Denver. Proximity to the university cities seemed not to be enough.

All that, however, seems to be a matter of the past and Chanut field, which not only suffered from official attacks, but from a devastating fire, with 3 million dollars for equipment will achieve a permanence that will make questionable any future attempts to uproot it.

WASHINGTON — There were two reasons why William McCleskey Martin, 31-year-old chairman of the board of the New York Stock Exchange, was picked as its first salaried president.

One was the inability of the governors to find an acceptable "outsider." They offered the $48,000-a-year job to four nationally known leaders, John Biggers, head of Libby-Owens-Ford Glass Company and director of last winter's Unemployment Census; Arthur Andersen, head of one of the four most important accounting firms in the country; General Robert Wood, head of Sears, Roebuck & Company; and Robert Hutchins, president of the University of Chicago.

All sent their regrets. The governors could not agree on any of the numerous "outsiders" suggested, and they finally dropped the idea of naming a non-Wall Streeter.

Second reason for Martin's selection was his quiet but striking demonstration of ability and courage in handling the job of board chairman.

The young St. Louis broker was elected chairman of the Stock Exchange board in last spring's house-cleaning of the Old Guard element which had ruled the Exchange for years. One of the key Old Guards was Roland Redmond, general counsel of the Exchange and lieutenant of the recently jailed Richard Whitney.

Whitney and Redmond had been had been leaders of the long and unyielding fight against the Pecora banking probe, later against SEC regulation of the stock market. When Whitney was displaced as head of the Exchange in 1936, he retained influence by continuing his friend Redmond as general counsel.

Recently the reform group, who favor cooperating with Washington and long have been gunning for Redmond, gave chairman Martin the job of ousting him.

Word of this caused a furious undercover struggle. Old Guards rallied behind Redmond, and tremendous pressure was brought on Martin to "lay off."

He went straight down the line, however. He summoned Redmond to his office and asked for his written resignation. That ended the fight.

The board of governors, impressed with this demonstration of forceful leadership, then decided that Martin was the man they were looking for to fill the presidential job. Thus a 31-year-old youngster now steps from the non-paying and much less potent job of chairman of the Stock Exchange board, to the powerful, active presidency, with a salary of $48,000 a year.

Skunk Oil

The Justice Department is always getting letters suggesting new methods for catching criminals.

Here is the latest, from a Chicago woman, proposing that bank clerks be equipped with squirt guns containing "skunk oil." The clerks were to spray bank robbers with the oil, the odor of which would be so noticeable that it would be easy to trace the burglars.

"And it would do them no good," the writer continued, "to bury their clothes, because if they did that, they would be naked and their movements would be greatly hampered. Finally, I would point out that this plan would also be a great boon to the skunk-raising industry."

Refugees

Two facts are worth noting about the International Refugee Conference now opening in Switzerland.

One is that more than 50 per cent of the refugees are non-Jewish. They are Catholics, Protestants and politically persecuted exiles from Germany and Austria. Of course there are also a large number of Jews.

Second is that the State Department, thanks to astute Robert T. Pell, has done a lot of advance work on the conference, so that it should make at least some progress.

One thing Pell did in advance was to get a signed statement defining American policy. To the outsider this would seem waste of time, yet anyone representing the United States at recent international conferences will tell you that by the time the White House, plus other branches of the Government, plus cliques within the State Department, get through hemming and hawing over U. S. policy, no one knows what it is.

Equally important, Pell spent a lot of time finding out in advance the refugee policies of other countries.

Monopoly Microscope
The monopoly probers have secretly agreed on the following

key industries to put under the microscope—

Steel, Sand and Gravel, Aluminum, Fertilizer, Cement, Oil and Gas Pipe Lines, Farm Machinery, Bread, Building Materials, Milk, Packing, Rubber, Food Processing, Oil, Lumber.

Regarding oil, Attorney General Cummings has had a secret report of the Federal Trade Commission on alleged violations of the California consent decree by a number of leading oil corporations.

Cummings, naturally, has done nothing about this, so the monopoly investigators will ask for the report and may make it public.

Other inquiries under serious consideration are into the liquor, motion picture, and radio industries.

The last two have been under fire for some years. In 1936, the House almost voted a probe of the movies, and just before adjournment last month it turned down an investigation of radio largely because the general monopoly inquiry had been authorized.

In their informal preliminary discussions, the probers have also agreed that if a study of monopoly is to be really comprehensive, it must consider such vitally related economic factors as rail and utility regulation, financing and labor costs.

WEEKLY SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

CALEB: A LIFE-TIME DEVOTION
Text: Joshua 14:6-15BY WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.
Editor of Advance

Caleb shared with Joshua the distinction of having the courage and faith to believe that determined Israelites could conquer the Promised Land. The rewards of heroic conduct and of true character are not always evident in this life. Men serve in sacrifice, and the evidence of what they have done often does not appear until after they have gone. But it is a satisfaction to realize that the reward came in Caleb's case, and that fitting portion of the Promised Land was given to Caleb for his inheritance.

The reward had come to Caleb when he had not many remaining years on earth, for he was now, as he says in a statement of the lesson, 85 years old. Is his statement that he was then as strong as in the day that Moses sent him justified, or is it the boast of an old man who does not realize how much he has aged?

We can hardly believe that his physical strength was what it had been 45 years before—but it is easy to believe that his moral vision and his moral fiber had not weakened, and that the old man was realizing the heritage of a well-spent life which had been attained in everything to strength and courage and righteousness. The possession of Hebron, the fine part of the land allotted to Caleb, was not altogether a matter of ease. It meant the obligation to hold it and to defend it. In this, Caleb was evidently successful, for we have the record in the closing words of the lesson that "the land had rest from war."

The possession of Hebron, the fine part of the land allotted to Caleb, was not altogether a matter of ease. It meant the obligation to hold it and to defend it. In this, Caleb was evidently successful, for we have the record in the closing words of the lesson that "the land had rest from war."

The moral lessons of this ancient story for our own time are not difficult to appraise.

There is, of course, the question of the moral right of one people to conquer a land and to expel another people by force of might—a question that has not very seriously arisen until comparatively modern times. The story of history is, in the main, the story of conquest and settlement, with those who showed capacity for settlement as well as conquest triumphing in the end.

But apart from this deeper question of the right of conquest is the lesson that determined courage and faith with moral vigor can conquer any obstacle. The man who is truly righteous need not fear the giants of evil. Formidable enemies can be dispersed and conquered by moral will and heroism.

But there is the further lesson that the goals of life are not in triumph over enemies, but in the attainment and preservation of peace. It was the spirit in which the Israelites possessed the land that has made their place in history significant.

Joshua and Caleb are heroic types for today. The story of what they were and did is inspiring, and nerves to action all to whom "promised lands" open up in characters to be attained and tasks to be achieved.

GIVING THE BRIDE A HAND

Marshall Field, Jr., became a helpful husband shortly after his marriage at Walpole, Mass., to Miss Joanne Bass, daughter of former Governor Robert Perkins Bass and Mrs. Bass of Peterboro, N. H. He is pictured above giving her a hand in her traditional prerogative of cutting the wedding cake, at the reception held in the gardens of the century-old estate of the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Charles Sumner Bird. The bridegroom, son of Mrs. Diego Suarez and Marshall Field of New York, is heir to the vast Field mercantile millions.

April, Mrs. Rossiter was Miss Alice Brink.

Nearly 50 neighbors and friends gathered to honor the bride. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Brink.

Legion Markers in Cemetery are Taken

Two Dixon youths who were apprehended last Friday night about 11 o'clock in Oakwood cemetery by Chief Van Bibber and officer McIntire, appeared in police court last evening to answer for their acts. The pair were reported to have been stoning the tool house when the police were summoned. An agreeable settlement was effected at the arraignment last evening.

Police were called to the cemetery again late last evening, when it was reported that two couples were acting suspiciously around the office building. The police investigation disclosed two cars of treasure seekers who were enjoying their search.

Officers of Dixon post, No. 12, American Legion, report that 20 bronze markers from graves of deceased World War veterans have been stolen from the cemetery and an investigation is being conducted by the Legionnaires in an effort to ascertain the disposition of the material.

MAY VISIT EUROPE

Springfield, Ill. July 7—(AP)—Time might not permit, but a vacation trip to Europe this summer is being tentatively considered by Governor Horner. The governor, his aides pointed out today, can't start his vacation until he finishes consideration of the June special session bills. That might take another week. And Horner wants to get back in time for the "Governor's Day" Democratic campaign rally at the state fair, August 18.

Obituary

Mrs. E. H. Kearns
Mary Viretta Williams Kearns, daughter of Abraham and Annetta Williams, was born in Goodland, Indiana, January 2, 1870, and passed away June 29, 1938 after a brief illness. She was the second white child born in Newton County, Indiana. She had attained the age of 68 years, 5 months and 27 days.

She was united in marriage to Erasmus H. Kearns February 8, 1888. They celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary in February of this year.

To this union were born five children, all of whom are living. Mrs. Kearns was a member of the Methodist church and Women's Relief Corps of Oregon. Her father Abraham Williams had served in the 5th cavalry, Kansas regiment in the Civil War.

She leaves to mourn her passing: her husband, E. H. Kearns, three sons: Wilbur N. of Clinton, Iowa; John W. of Franklin Grove; Charles W. of Oregon; two daughters, Mrs. Grace M. Berry of Sterling, Ill., and Mrs. Ruth Yocum of Franklin Grove. Eighteen grandchildren and two great-grandchildren, Barton Lee Meredith of Palo Alto, California; Jane Marie Kearns of Davenport, Iowa. Christ, the Comforter
Beside the dead I knelt for prayer
And felt a presence as I prayed,
Lo, it was Jesus standing there,
He smiled, "Be not afraid."
"Lord, Thou hast conquered death
we know
Reste again to life," I said.
This one who died an hour ago
He smiled, "She is not dead."
Asleep then, as Thyself did say,
Yet, Thou canst lift the eyes that keep

Her prisoned eyes from our away,
He smiled; She doth not sleep.
On then, tho haply she do wake,
And look upon some fairer dawn,
Restore her to our hearts that ache
He smiled; She is not gone.
Yet our beloved seems so far,
Tho while we yearn to feel them near,

Albion with Thee we trust they are,
He smiled, And I am here,
Dear Lord, how shall we know that they

Still walk unseen with us and Thee?
Nor sleep, nor wander far away?
He smiled: "Abide in me."

TRAUTMAN ENDS LENGTHY CAREER OF FIFTY YEARS

Retires Today; Served Northwestern Railroad 41 Years

Fifty years ago, on January 9, 1888, Walter W. Trautman trudged to work on his first job as telegrapher at Ridgeville, Indiana. Last night the big red signal flashed a halt to his career as station agent and telegrapher at the Chicago & Northwestern depot here and he was retired today without a demerit against his name.

When interviewed by a Telegraph reporter yesterday afternoon Mr. Trautman was compiling his last monthly reports. The interview was interrupted by a westbound freight roaring past the station, Mr. Trautman broke off the conversation, donned his earphones and marked its passage on a blank, while the green signals assured a clear track ahead.

"I've seen many changes in my day," he resumed, as the shriek of the thundering locomotive's whistle died away in the distance, but the one thing that has stuck by me all these years is my lucky number seven.

"I was born in the 1870's, the seventh son of my parents Lucy and Victor Trautman. I was born in County Allikan, Mich., which had seven letters. My birthday fell on February twelfth which had seven letters in that. The Chicago Northwestern road was the seventh railroad I had ever worked for and I took the job on the seventh day of the seventh month in 1897. I resigned June 7, the resignation becoming effective today, July 7. I have been here the life of seven freight agents and my telephone number at the depot has always been 47.

"I am past master of Friendship Lodge No. 7, past master of the Dixon Council 7, past patron of the Order of Easter Star 371, past high priest of Dixon Chapter 56 which is divisible by seven, a member of the Knights Templar Lodge No. 21 also divisible by seven, past dictator of the Loyal Order of the Moose No. 727, and I stand seventh on the Chicago Northwestern railroad's seniority list."

Changed Roads
Mr. Trautman left the Ridgeville, Ind., office September 4, 1888 to enlist with the Panhandle route of the Pennsylvania road, working while on the extra list at nearly every station between Chicago and Bradford Junction, Ohio. Later he was given a regular assignment at Royal Center, where he was married to Miss Minnie Mae Fultz, the only daughter of Lucas and Hannah Fultz.

Mr. Trautman remained with the Panhandle route until early spring of 1892 when he left to enlist as agent of the Chicago and Northwestern Michigan railway now the Pere Marquette railway at Williamsburg, Mich. Dissatisfied with his surroundings, he returned to Chicago and enrolled as a telegrapher for the Chicago and Eastern Illinois "beet lines" at Eighty-third street dispatchers office in Chicago. He resigned this position to accept the agency for the Chicago and Rock Island railway at Tracy avenue, Chicago.

The telegraphers' strike on the Rock Island road came in 1893 when he was numbered among 900 striking for better working conditions. He did not return to the road after the strike as it was anticipated another walkout would be called during the year of the Columbian Exposition in 1893.

He enlisted as telegrapher, time keeper, assistant chief operator of the Indian Natural Gas and Fuel Co. whose head offices were at 148

Michigan avenue in Chicago and was with the Chicago Milwaukee and St. Paul railway on the Chicago-Evanston division during 1894-1895-1896.

It was on July 7, 1897, just forty-one years ago, that he came to the Chicago Northwestern railway in whose service he has remained until his retirement today. He started as night telegrapher at Cortland, Ill., opening that office when the Manual Black system was instituted. He remained only a short time moving to Rochelle as night telegrapher. He went from Rochelle to DeKalb as day telegrapher and station agent in 1899 and kept that position during the dedication of the Northern State Teachers college, coming to Dixon as day telegrapher and ticket agent October 3, 1899 where he has remained the past thirty-eight years.

Mr. Trautman in building his enviable record without a demerit not only never cost the railroad one penny other than his salary but also saved the lines thousands of dollars in damage and possible human lives by averting what might have been serious wrecks. He has also, by his alertness frustrated a number of holdups and burglaries.

Friends of Mr. Trautman congratulate him on his long service and wish for him many more happy years of rest and leisure among his large circle of friends.

In one year (1931) 125,000 white-tailed deer were killed within 300 miles of New York City.

Answer to Question No. 1

1. This question is now being investigated by Profs. Ernest Burgess of the University of Chicago and Leonard Cottrell of Cornell. They are trying to develop a scale by which they can predict whether a particular couple will be happy or unhappy in marriage. Already they have found that if the parents on both sides were happily married it is almost certain their children will be also. From other studies we know that happiness is to a considerable extent due to one's hereditary make-up, although environment also is a powerful factor.

Answer to Question No. 2

2. A hard question. To us democracy seems natural but we forget that it is a pretty recent thing. Men have nearly always lived under dictators. However, I think their day is pretty nearly over for two reasons—first, the dictator today has no hard study to take his place. In olden time he could fool the people into accepting his son and even make them think the whole family was endowed from heaven, but today such nonsense is not accepted in most countries. Each dictator must make good on his own. I think the passion for individual freedom has been slowly gaining ground and will continue to do so, and eventually overcome all other theories of government.

Answer to Question No. 3

3. It would be nine times as great. According to the law of physics the impact of moving objects increases in proportion to the square of the speed. If a car were going 100 miles an hour it would strike with 25 times the impact of one going at 20. This law was discovered by Leibnitz, the German philosopher, about 1675 and raised a storm that lasted a hundred years, but is now accepted as a basic principle of science.

DISCUSS IMPROVEMENT

Property owners affected by the improvement planned for North Main street and Tenth avenue to Lincoln highway met at the city hall Friday afternoon to hear details of the project. Unanimous approval was given to the improvement by the property owners attending the meeting.

On hand to explain the details of the construction work were Mayor F. R. Diederich, Commissioner T. L. Schade, City Attorney Fred E. Gardner and C. K. Willett, state engineer.

The section to be surfaced has been designated as an arterial street by the council which also approved the use of $20,000 of motor fuel tax funds for the project. Mayor Diederich explained that the drains, manholes and bituminous surface would be constructed with the appropriation, while the property owners would stand the cost of the curb. The expense to the property owners would amount to approximately one dollar per foot frontage.

The bituminous surface included in the plans can be laid at about four the cost of cement or brick. Engineer Willett reported. He explained that the block on Main street between Fifth and Sixth avenues will be 40-feet wide while the remainder of the arterial street would be 36-feet wide.

He described the road bed as being 10 inches deep with the top two and three-quarters being composed of asphalt and pea gravel, the base being native gravel. An adequate storm-sewer system and gutters would be installed.

The cost of the construction totals about $3500 per block, Willett said. As the city derives on an average of about $6,000 per year from the motor fuel tax funds, payment of the whole project would take several years. Mayor Diederich explained that the payment plan included the issuance of bonds which would be taken up as the city received money from the state.

City Attorney Fred E. Gardner explained the desirability of levying a special assessment on the property owners to gain the cost of laying the curbs. A special assessment, he said, has prior lien on the property and assures the city of getting the funds for the curbing and does away with the risk embodied in a promissory note. Interest in the improvement of avenues intersecting Main street was voiced by several property owners. Commissioner T. L. Schade explained that the work on the side street could not be financed with motor fuel tax funds because of stipulations in the law which requires their use on state-aid roads. Engineer Willett explained that their use on designated arterial streets was derived from an interpretation of the statute.

The discussion also included the possibility of using WPA labor on work on the avenues. The federal government will furnish six dollars in materials per month per man for such projects.

William T. Hayes, chairman of the streets and parking committee of the Chamber of Commerce, was present and thanked the city and property owners for their reception of the street improvement which was similar to one embodied in a suggested program presented to the city council some weeks ago.

NATIONALS LIVED DOWN FOES' JIBES

Have Now Won Two Out of Six All- Star Games

Cincinnati, July 7.—(AP)—The nation's several million National League addicts, who have taken an awful lot of lip from the opposition in recent years, were bouncing around on their toes today and telling anybody they could back into a corner about the merits of inside, scientific baseball.

They were pointing out, with gestures, how their all-stars whipped the pants off the best the American League could produce, 4 to 1, in the big charity bout here yesterday, and were predicting confidently that a few more such demonstrations would have the slow, sluggish, ungainly American League crying uncle.

Having lost four of the first five, the Nationals were about ready to toss in the towel. There was a last-ditch air about them as they went into yesterday's game.

They came out of it looking like men who had received a reprieve from the governor. League President Ford Frick was bouncing around asking hostile sports writers "how do you like the minor leaguers now?" and even Colonel William Terry, who engineered the triumph, didn't hide his elation.

Play-For-Run Ball
At that, there is nothing much more impressive in sports than a demonstration of the National League's type of tight, play-for-a-run baseball—when it works. And it worked yesterday. It was Bill Terry, baseball, the kind that has been winning National League pennants, and for an afternoon, at least, it was better than all the slugging the American League could muster.

Terry sacrificed potential batting strength to put an airtight defense behind his pitchers. The Nationals made 8 hits, only one more than their adversaries. But they fielded perfectly, even brilliantly, while their opponents of the fat batting averages made four glaring errors and literally threw the game away.

Johnny Vander Meer, Cincinnati's sensational young southpaw, held the Americans to a single hit for the first three innings.

Bill Lee of the Chicago Cubs shut them out with one bingle, a fluke double by Bill Dickey, for the second three. Mace Brown of the Pirates repeatedly pulled himself out of danger and gave up only one run to the vaunted American Leaguers in the final three.

Still, if the Americans had fielded like the winners, they would have finished the regulation nine innings in a 1-1 deadlock and might have been playing yet. It was spectacular National League fielding, then, that won.

Medwick Sensational
The highlight of the game, in fact, was a fielding gem by Joe Medwick of the St. Louis Cardinals in the ninth. Joe DiMaggio of the Yankees led off with a single and the National League adherents among the 27,000 spectators shuddered as Dickey drove one at the scoreboard in deepest center. Carl Hubbell and Jim Turner were warming up furiously in the National's bull-pen.

Medwick took one quick look and tore back at full speed. At the last instant he jumped up and speared the ball, and it stuck in his glove as he somersaulted. It was a heroic catch.

Joe Cronin, the next man up, doubled deep to center, his second hit of the day, to give the Americans their only run and avert what would have been the first shutout since the all-star games began. But that was all. Lou Gehrig lined out to Ival Gooden in right, and Brown closed the books by striking out pinch-hitter Bob Johnson.

The Americans' only other serious threat came in the seventh, when they collected two hits and a walk off Brown to fill the sacks with two away. This time Rudy York, Detroit's home-run expert, was given his chance to break up the game, and he went down swinging at Brown's sharp-breaking curves.

Gomez Given Loss
Vernon "Lefty" Gomez of the Yankees, victor in three previous all-star games, had the misfortune of being charged with the defeat, though he allowed only two hits in his three-inning tenure.

Johnny's pitches against the right-field wall for a triple, the lustiest blow of the game. Whereupon big Ernie Lombardi of the Reds slapped the first of his two singles down the third-base line, and that was the ball game.

With old Lefty Grove pitching, the last two National runs in the seventh were gifts, first Jimmie Foxx and then Joe DiMaggio throwing the ball out of sight. It finally wound up in the Nationals' dugout as Frank McCormick and Leo Durocher trotted across the pan.

THIRD SUBWAY SERIES SEEMS MORE LIKELY

Yanks Have Moved Into a Tie With Indians

B SID FEDER
Associated Press Sports Writer.

Save your nickles, folks. The possibility of a third straight subway World Series for little old New York is becoming somewhat less far-fetched than a trip to the moon in a rocket ship.

A month ago, such a suggestion would have resulted in general outbreaks of hilarity. On the basis of performances in the last couple weeks, it becomes "a horse from a different garage."

Of course, neither the Giant's nor the Yankees are a shoo-in for the current pennant chase. But with the National leaguers sporting a 3½ game bulge in their race and the Yanks finally clicking offensively and defensively, Bill Terry's troupe and murderers' row once again are definitely the teams to beat.

Until they were tied in the late innings of the second game of the July 4 doubleheader in Washington, the Yanks had an undefeated run of nine straight. During that time, they had clubbed out 106 hits for 88 runs, 17 of them homers, and had allowed the enemy just 16 tallies. The string skyrocketed them from dangerously near fourth place to a tie for the top with Oscar Vitt's vitality Indians from Cleveland.

Advantage With Yanks.
From here on in, the advantages are mostly with the Yanks. They have a long home stand coming up, while the Tribe haeds eastward. And anyone who knows a ball from a strike realizes that, despite Mr. Vitt's regular injections of vim, vigor and vitality, the Indians still are just as apt as not to fall asleep once they leave the Cleveland city limits behind.

Witness, for instance, that doubleheader defeat in Detroit Monday just after the Tribe had taken 11 of 15 starts at home.

On the National league side meantime, the team that beats the Giants must be one that doesn't beat itself. Terrible Terry may not have the man-for-man class boasted by other clubs in the league, notably the "brainy" Chicago Cubs and the somnambulist Pirates of Pittsburgh. But he has his lads in these punching day after day, paced by pitching power, and, as was the case against Brooklyn Monday, ready to break out in a rash of base hits for no apparent reason.

Their closest rivals at the moment are the Pirates, and if the Bucs can get over their lack of familiarity with the high altitude for this late in the season they may make things pop before it's over.

If Cleveland starts to nosedive in the American league, Joe Cronin may shove his Boston Red Sox into the breach, but the gold-plated hose are a little backward in the pitching department, once you pass Lefty Grove and Jim Bagby. That leaves it, as usual, squarely up to Mr. Mickey Cochrane and his Detroit Tigers. Make no mistakes about it, Mickey has the power to make a fight of it, once his pitching finds itself—if it can.

War Admiral And Seabiscuit May Be Matched Yet

ROCKFORD SITE FOR BASEBALL TRY-OUT CAMP

Four Clubs To Test Aspirants
Week of July 18th

Rockford, July 7.—Member clubs of the only Class AA leagues in the United States, and one of the two existing Class A1 circuits, will conduct a baseball try-out camp in Rockford the week of July 18. It was announced here today.

The four clubs, all operated by the St. Louis Cardinals, are Columbus of the American Association, Rochester of the International league, Sacramento of the Pacific Coast league, and Houston of the Texas league.

Scheduled for six days at Rockford's Black Hawk park, the camp will be the only one conducted by the Cardinal organization in Illinois, Wisconsin, Iowa and surrounding territory this year, and will offer youthful prospects of this section an opportunity to discover whether or not they have a future in professional baseball.

Scouts On Hand
A staff of competent scouts of the Cardinal organization will be on hand at the camp to pass judgment on the players, according to the announcement made today by John Eckler, field representative of the Columbus club. The scouting personnel will be announced next week.

No fee will be charged to candidates. The camp will not be conducted as a school, nor will instruction be given. Try-outs probably will entail a stay of three or four days for out-of-town boys. Players who are signed to contracts will be refunded expenses incident to attending the camp.

The Cardinal organization has been conducting camps of this nature for several years, one of which was held in Rockford last summer. From each camp numerous boys made their start in professional baseball. Players between the ages of 17 and 23 who believe they have the ability to play baseball professionally are eligible to attend the camp in Rockford. They need no recommendations to attend. All they have to do is to present themselves at Black Hawk park, Monday, July 18. The only requirements are that out-of-town boys finance their own trips to Rockford and pay their living expenses while here. Boys must bring their own shoes, gloves and uniforms.

GEHRINGER WAS BEST HITTER OF ALL-STAR GAME

Hit Safely Only Once in
3 Chances Yesterday
Though

New York, June 7.—(AP)—The American leaguers lost the ball game, but Charley Gehringer still is the No. 1 hitter of all-star baseball history.

The strong, silent man of the Detroit Tigers hit safely once in three chances yesterday, his sixth all-star game. The performance chopped 25 points off his six-year average, but left him with a mark of 500 on 10 hits at 20 times at bat, and that was the best of any player who has seen action in three or more dream games.

The National league lead changed as a result of yesterday's clouting. Last year's leader, Ducky Medwick of the Cardinals, hit safely only once in four chances and slipped to 389 for five years. Thus he gave up the league pace to Bill Terry, manager of the successful senior circuit warriors, who compiled a mark of 4.0 in his three years of playing duty, 1933 through '35.

Here are the leaders in various departments in all-star history:

LAWRIN, DAUBER ARE RELEGATED TO TURF SHELVE

Inglewood, Calif., July 7.—(AP)—Dauber, ailing Preakness winner, was reported sold for $40,000 today while his arch rival, Lawrin, Kentucky Derby champion, joined him on the shelf.

Although a bowed tendon forced Dauber out of the $50,000 three-year-old stakes at Hollywood park last week, E. E. Fogelson, Texas oil man, has agreed to pay William C. Du Pont's Foxcatcher farm $40,000 for the chestnut stallion, it was learned.

Gogelson plans to keep Dauber inactive for at least three months, then train him slowly for the winter season at Santa Anita, with its $100,000 handicap.

Lawrin, winner of last week's rich stakes, pulled up yesterday with what Trainer Ben Jones described as the same kind of leg injury that befell Dauber. He blamed frequent watering of the track for the mishaps.

The Hollywood turf club announced today Frank Kelly, track superintendent, had been discharged.

"I just put enough water on it to keep the dust down," he said.

Benares, India, is the most sacred city of the Hindoos.

A New Angle

They're getting fishing down to a science, as Emmett Weakley, above, of Lexington, Ill., indicates. That string of mixed pike were caught in Lake Kabetogama, Minn., with the aid of the barometer he holds. Experiments have proven that fish bite best on rising barometric conditions, and very little on a falling barometer. The tip, of course, is to take a barometer reading when you go fishing.

Brownies Dropped Into Three-I Loop Second Division

Chicago, July 7.—(AP)—The Springfield Brownies, not so long ago threatening to take the Three-Eye league lead, were in the second division today.

The Brownies dropped to an even 500 percentage last night by losing a wild and woolly game to the Cedar Rapids Red Raiders, 11 to 9. Behind at one point, 8 to 2, the Browns tied the score, but fell before another Raider onslaught in the eighth inning.

Waterloo beat the fading seventh-place Bloomington club, 6 to 1.

Decatur, off on another winning streak, scored in six innings to win easily from Moline, 6 to 1. But the Evansville Bees kept their lead over the Combies intact by knocking off the last-place Clinton crew, 9 to 2.

All but the heaviest bears are able to climb trees.

ALL-STARS GIVE POST MORTEM OF BALL GAME

Lombardi Scared When
Brown Faced Rudy
York at Bat

Cincinnati, July 7.—(AP)—"I had a lot of stuff, all right," said Johnny Vander Meer afterward, "but when they're all tough you don't know what's going to happen." Very little did, as far as he was concerned. He got the biggest cheer of the day when his three innings were up.

"He's wicked," said the slugging Joe DiMaggio. "Johnny will get better as he goes along. He throws with everything he's got and that's plenty."

Ernie Lombardi, of the big nose, caught the whole game and reported when it was over there wasn't much difference among the three pitchers he handled.

"They know what it's all about and all I had to do was catch," he said.

Ernie admitted he was plenty scared when Mace Brown ran up a three-and-two count on Rudy York, the Detroit slugger, with the bases loaded and two out in the seventh. York went down swinging on the next pitch and Brown justified his reputation as a high-spot pitcher.

"But if he'd hit that one," sighed Ernie, "there wouldn't have been no more ball game. And if he'd let it go he'd've walked. It was so low he couldn't have got it with a shovel."

John Simmons, 19, of Covington, Ky., came over to the park at 2:30 in the morning to be sure to be the first line line for the standing room. He was. But he had to wait until all the sitters were in their seats before he could lead the line of 2,000 in.

There was lively trading on the autographed ball-and-bat market. The batboys and ushers were selling them fast, though prices were moderate.

An usher complained he got only $2 from a fan for a ball "with everybody's signature on it."

"It costs that much for the ball alone," he complained, but admitted that it didn't cost him that much.

Attempt To Hoist Land Speed Mark Is Contemplated

Wendover, Utah, July 7.—(AP)—Captain George E. T. Eyston began preparations today for attempts to hoist his land speed record of 311.42 miles per hour to 330 M. P. H.

The English speedster would make no prediction when he will attempt the "flying mile" run with his 24-cylinder "Thunderbolt."

"All depends on the condition of the course," he said.

SIDE GLANCES By George Clark

"For next week-end I've invited the Baxters, McGaws, Webers and the Lambs--can you think of anyone else?"

THIS CURIOUS WORLD By William Ferguson

MOOSE, BEFORE SUBMERGING THEIR HEADS TO FEED ON AQUATIC PLANTS, DROP THEIR EARS AT AN ANGLE, WHICH PREVENTS WATER FROM ENTERING.

IN NEW ZEALAND, THE MAORIS DO MUCH OF THEIR COOKING IN HOT SPRINGS. FOOD IS PLACED IN A WICKER BASKET, COVERED WITH A BLANKET, AND SUSPENDED IN THE HOLE.

A MOOSE bears little resemblance to usual conceptions of a water animal. Nevertheless, these ungainly creatures wade far out into lakes, and plunge their heads below the surface to feed on aquatic plants. At times, the animal disappears completely from view.

Why do mountain climbers develop a distaste for meat?
